Continuity & Resilience Today (CRT) - International Business Continuity Management Conference is an annual event partnered with the Business Continuity Institute (BCI), the Disaster Recovery Institute Canada (DRI Canada), and the Disaster Recovery Information Exchange (DRIE) that serves the needs of business continuity management professionals.

The conference will be held in Toronto on October 7-8, 2020. CRT is Canada's premier event addressing continuity management, providing a global perspective on current and emerging issues for Canadian BCM practitioners. The 2020 program will include an outstanding roster of speakers providing an excellent opportunity for training and networking. Presentations will cover practice, research, and innovation in business continuity, crisis communications and risk management.

CRT 2020 will include 24 presentations over 2-days. The program will be of interest to practitioners, researchers and decision makers from sectors including energy/utilities, finance/insurance, government, manufacturing, technology, telecommunications, transportation and wholesale/retail.

Call for Papers

Submission Deadline - January 31, 2020

Up to two submissions per individual will be accepted. Submissions will be reviewed by senior business continuity professionals selected by CRT's Education Partners who plan and develop the Program; the Business Continuity Institute, Disaster Recovery Information Exchange-Toronto, and Disaster Recovery Institute Canada. If you have knowledge you would like to share at CRT, or know of someone who may be interested in presenting, please share this Call for Papers.
