Patient Assistance: A $30B Access Opportunity

12:00 PM - 01:30 PM PST

Description:

Patients face nearly $400B in out-of-pocket costs annually, and many vulnerable patients consider forgoing treatment that they cannot afford. Hospitals and health systems are challenged to ensure patients have sufficient coverage for treatment while compassionately serving their communities. Fortunately, philanthropic medical financial aid programs offer $30B in annual funding through patient assistance and health equity programs. Join this session to explore best practices and learn more about mitigating these barriers to care.

Speaker:

Tim L'Hommedieu

Senior Vice President of Pharmacy

Atlas Health

Bio:

Tim L'Hommedieu, PharmD, MS, is Senior Vice President of Pharmacy for Atlas Health. In this role, he is responsible for pharmacy and solution architecture, assisting hospitals and health systems across the country to optimize their patient assistance programs. He has extensive experience in all areas of hospital and health system pharmacy including health plan design, population health, ambulatory services, transitions of care, and specialty pharmacy. Before joining Atlas, he was Director of Pharmaceutical Services for the BayCare Health System and Program Director for the Health System Pharmacy Administration and Leadership Residency. Dr. L'Hommedieu has published articles on drug diversion, lean methodology in pharmacy operations, pharmacy residency program reimbursement, and transitions of care services. He also serves as a guest lecturer for the University of North Carolina Graduate School. Dr. L'Hommedieu received his PharmD and B.A. in economics from The Ohio State University. He completed a two-year administrative residency at Nationwide Children's Hospital and received a Masters in hospital pharmacy administration from The Ohio State University.
