The Refinery: Prosperity and Influence

Egypt Shriners Center

5017 East Washington Street

Tampa, FL 33619

11:30 AM - 01:00 PM EST

Tampa Bay Latin Chamber,

What to Expect

Join the All Hart Foundation and the Tampa Bay Latin Chamber for "La Refinería: Prosperidad E Influencia" (The Refinery: Prosperity and Influence). This gathering is dedicated to addressing the unique challenges and opportunities facing Latinos today while empowering our community to thrive on every level.

Our conversation will delve deep into topics of wealth and financial empowerment, exploring strategies to build and sustain generational wealth within the Latin community. We'll address the critical issue of mental health, breaking down the stigmas and barriers that prevent so many from seeking the care they need. Wellness will also take center stage as we discuss holistic approaches to health that honor our cultural roots while promoting physical and emotional well-being.

Civic engagement, both locally and nationally, will be a focal point as we examine how our voices can shape the future of our communities and our country. From voter participation to grassroots activism, we'll explore how every individual can make a meaningful impact.

But this event is more than just dialogue—it's a celebration of our culture, resilience, and collective power. Hosted at the Egypt Shriner Center in Tampa, this luncheon will feature delicious cuisine, connect with like-minded individuals, and leave inspired to take action in your life and community.

Mark your calendars for Wednesday, February 12th and join us for this transformative event where we'll come together be empowered, inspired, and to prosper.

About The Refinery: A Social Exchange

From social justice issues and disproportionate COVID-19 illnesses to systemic financial and political struggles, the quality of life for Black Americans' was stifled by these challenges. The Refinery was developed by serial entrepreneur and community leader Gary Hartfield to serve as a safe space for conversation, support, and healing for all to engage. It is more than an event; it's an opportunity to "refine" mindsets and create solutions. From social justice issues and disproportionate COVID-19 illnesses to systemic financial and political struggles, the quality of life for Black Americans' was stifled by these challenges. Drawing over 1,000 attendees to date, The Refinery is more than an event; it's an opportunity to "refine" mindsets and create solutions. It's a moment to celebrate our greatness and remind the world of our existence. It's a space where all are welcome. It's a place to inspire change and empower the culture.
